

The Ponderings of Pastor Beth

Dear Members and Friends,

Each week as I prepare for Sunday's sermon and prayerfully study the upcoming scripture, I am doing "exegesis." I am attempting to hear what God might be saying to us through the ancient words. Although I may be alone in my office (or elsewhere) as I do this work, I never do it alone. God speaks through Bible commentaries (online or those big, heavy books on my shelf), fellow colleagues, the experiences you all share as well as your prayers and thoughts, news events, and my life experiences.

I have been trained in seminary to "hear" the scripture as much as possible in the context in which it was written. You might hear me say during the sermon, "In Jesus' day" or "In biblical times" and this helps us remember the culture and practices back then which may be very different than today's.

One thing I try to avoid (although we are not perfect as pastors) is "eisegesis." Unlike exegesis which attempts to "lift" God's voice from the scripture, eisegesis is me trying to see my message in the scripture. Problematic, right?

Unfortunately the Bible was once again used in a manner in which it was never intended. Attorney General Sessions applied eisegesis to a Romans passage to justify the abhorrent practice of separating children from their parents at the border. The verse he used was "cherry picked" and the fuller context of the Romans passage was ignored. This is not only an improper use of our sacred scripture as Christians but also dangerous.

There are countless full passages in the Bible which tell of our call as people of faith. Many of them come back to this central tenet: "Love God and Love One Another."

There are few things that cause more harm than to children than separating them from their parents. The trauma this creates is not something they outgrow but rather something they will likely negatively impact them for the rest of their lives.

As we worship together this July, may we come together to hear the scriptures and "exegete" them together—listening to all the ways God is "stillspeaking" to us through them. Let us also pray for and do even more than pray for our young ones at the border and their parents. Have you told your representative yet how you feel on this issue—especially as a Christian?

The Ponderings of...Our 'Pridefesters'!

...No, your eye-sight isn't failing you! This is a bonus edition of Ponderings!

The second weekend every June on the Summerfest grounds is Pridefest. For many years, the UCC and other progressive denominations have shared a booth to be in solidarity with the LGBT community.

This year four of our members—Tanya Brown, Kathy Immel, Stephanie Pischke, and Amy Wheelock-Brodzik—volunteered at the booth inviting people to have their picture taken at the photo booth or to receive a blessing from a UCC clergy person.

As you might imagine with four individuals, there were four different reactions and experiences. All seemed to share the sentiment that it was a joy to witness and be a part of a community, at least for a part of one weekend, where all could truly be who they are, dress in the way they desire to dress, and essentially be “free” from the trappings of the “outside” world.

Some in the group wondered if blessing people of the LGBT community was the best vehicle for creating an experience of God's love. Blessing is a powerful practice in the church but it has also been used as a weapon to condemn or “fix” or “change” individuals and groups. We don't doubt for a second the intention, wholeheartedness, and genuine love the clergy likely conveyed in their blessings but some have wondered if offering blessings is too vulnerable or too easily misconstrued. However, 500 people were “Blessed at Pridefest” so maybe the genuine intentionality around the blessings created a trusting enough environment.

How might we as the church continue to share this message of God loves all and welcomes all? How might we continue to get the word out about our church and about the United Church of Christ? How about starting with your neighbor? The person you meet at the grocery store? Start the conversation. See what happens. Share God's love.

What's Happening in Worship in July?

July 1

Psalm 130

Met us in Fellowship Hall for Panera bagels and coffee as we worship God together. We'll prayerfully hear the ways Psalm 130 (a shorter but mighty piece) applies to our lives and calls us into closer relationship with God. We'll also break bread at the table together during communion. Bring the kids and have them play in the "pray-ground" that'll be set up

July 8

Mark 6:1-13

Jesus hits a brick wall in his ministry as he tries to do God's work in his hometown. He later teaches the disciples before he sends them out "two by two" that they should "shake off the dust that is on your feet" if any refuse them. What dust might we need to shake off?

July 15

Psalm 24

"The earth is the Lord's and all that is in it." We'll prayerfully gather and remember that God holds the earth and all that is a part of it. What a release it is to know we are in God's hands.

July 22

Mark 6:30-34, 53-56

Jesus calls the disciples to rest. Why is it so hard for us to rest? To take care of ourselves when we so often take care of others? Caring for themselves gave the disciples gave breath in their lungs to continue to heal and do God's work. How might we heed the advice during worship and rest?

July 29

John 6:1-21

It's the story so many of us love: the feeding of the 5,000. How might we feed others around us? Our loved ones and the hungry in our community?

Please Note: No board meeting minutes from June. Board members met with Endowment Committee on Tues. June 12.

Pastor Beth's June Ministry Highlights:

- Our Outdoor/Indoor Clean Up Day on June 3 allowed us to get a lot of tasks accomplished in a short amount of time. A big thank you to all who helped and for the Jeff & Amy for providing the lunch.
- June 10's Fun Day had a slight damper to it due to the rain (cancelling our annual kickball game). Our youngest disciples had fun though playing games inside. We had a great baseball tailgate-themed potluck complete with several "carnival" treats including a popcorn maker, nachos, and snow cones! Wow! Thanks Steve Pantaleo for sharing with us.
- Our first campfire worship of the summer, on Thurs. June 14, got off to a great start. We had beautiful weather, 10 kids present blowing bubbles and having a fun time, and our pudgy pies were well-received! See you next time on July 12!
- All the men in worship on Father's Day received a cookie. Thank you, Pam Rossi, for providing them!

Sunday Kids' Camp starts in Fellowship Hall (check out the tent!) where the Bible story of the day will be read. Then kids will head outside (weather pending) to move their bodies and further live into the lessons of the stories.

Kids should wear play clothes and shoes and lather in sunscreen prior. Water bottles, sunglasses/hats, etc. are encouraged.
